An extract from David Hinchliffe's C.V.

"I am a retired local government financial officer.

I am professionally qualified: I was a member of CIPFA (the Chartered Institute of Public Finance and Accountancy) - the local government accountancy body - until I retired.

My last appointment was as an Assistant County Treasurer of Devon where my main responsibility was for the internal audit of the whole of the County Council's activities.

I have been a District Councillor (East Devon) and a Parish Councillor (Lympstone).

I work on a part time casual basis. In this connection I am appointed as internal auditor to about a dozen Town and Parish Councils mainly in the East Devon area. I have held several of those appointments since town and parish councils have been required (by law) to have internal auditors."
